2016 LDA Award Winner Announced at Long Island Library Conference

Presentation of the 2016 LDA Award
for Excellence in Library Achievement

Prof. Arthur L. Friedman, Ed.D., MLS, MS
Presenter

On behalf of LDA Publishers and the Nassau and Suffolk County Library Associations, I take this opportunity to acknowledge and thank the members of this year's bi-county award committee for their work in soliciting nominations and selecting a nominee for the LDA Award. The committee was co-chaired by Marcia Olsen of the Levittown Public Library and Paula Bornstein of the Lindenhurst Memorial Library.

In 1977, Mr. Andrew Ippolito, a past-president of NCLA, former Director, The Merrick Library, founder of LDA Publishers, and Director of the Newsday Library, created the LDA Award for Excellence in Library Achievement to call attention to the importance of libraries and those who provide a special value to the libraries of Long Island. During its 39-year history, the award has been presented to 41 individuals. The award criteria are published in the Directory of Long Island Libraries and Media Centers. It must be noted that while some award winners were nearing the end of their active library careers, more than 25% of the recipients were – and still are – active after receiving this recognition! As editor-in-chief of the Directory, it is my honor to introduce the award winner. …

Today's honoree has been firmly committed to at least 4 "Cs" of librarianship – collaboration, cooperation, communication, and community. This individual has demonstrated that it is possible to move from one arena of librarianship to another, provide that arena with the leadership it needs and then return to the original arena and continue to excel. As a member of the Port Washington Public Library staff, our honoree pioneered the integration of technology into the library (at that time this included determining how the new Internet would enhance library services, and evaluating expensive databases to make sure that limited library funds would be spent wisely.) The need to collaborate with other members of the staff, and when necessary, serving as a mentor was essential.

Success in this realm lead to a position at the Nassau Library System where her knowledge of computer technology permitted Nassau Net to be opened to the broader library user community with appropriate helpdesk support. Developing and offering training support in the growing field of end-user software applications, database searching and maintenance of networked solutions made her a valuable asset to the public libraries of the System.

After becoming well versed in the ethos of cooperation and collaboration of the public library sphere, a new challenge awaited when an opportunity to be a leader in the school library community opened. Now was the moment to forge cooperative relationships between public and private schools and use those links to partner with public libraries and expand services to the youth community. It should be noted that this was at a time when libraries were engaged in extensive weeding projects, retrospectively converting their catalog records into MARC format, purchasing and installing OPACs to replace their card catalogs, and realizing that the process would not be as simple as it sounded! Training, training and more training was the order of the day and our honoree was fully involved in all aspects of that activity.

Returning to the public library sector offered new challenges and new opportunities for this individual to make good use of her vast knowledge and thirst for education, her magnetic personality, her drive for excellence and her infectious enthusiasm. She took a modern physical plant and saw where improvements could be made to enhance the electronic resources available to her user population. She realized that the daily life and development of special needs children would be enhanced through the creation of programs in partnership with the Special Ed PTA in her community. She encouraged her youth librarians to organize unusual programming for teen audiences thereby attracting them to become active library users and supporters. She promoted a one-on-one technology tutoring service for adults to help them become technology literate.

As she established her roots in this new position, she also found the time to provide leadership service to our library organizations. The LILRC Regional Automation Committee as well as its Board of Trustees was enhanced by her active participation. Members of the Nassau County Library Association chose her as their president and among her initiatives was a plan to enhance institution membership and encourage individuals to experience NCLA through that membership. She became a leader of the NLS Member Library Directors group and the New Yorkers for Better Libraries Steering Committee.

During this new stage in her career she also took the initiative to reach out to community organizations. This resulted in her election to leadership positions in the Farmingdale Breakfast Rotary, Rotary International, the Farmingdale Chamber of Commerce and a local charity organization, which she helped establish, the Farmingdale Community Summit.

As I began this description of the winner of this year's LDA Award I noted the 4 "Cs" of cooperation, collaboration, community and communication. I would like to add a few more to the list. She is considerate and caring about the needs of her staff, she consistently displays a commitment to her library and its place in the broader community, to her Library board, and especially to her staff, and she remains calm in the face of adversity. She is a leader with many willing followers.

As you know, I can go on with many more accolades, however, let me finish by paraphrasing some of the language from one of the many letters of nomination:

This individual is a colleague who shares a vision of library service for today and into the future. Her agenda is the future of libraries and her legacy will be stronger and more viable libraries which incorporate traditional services and the changing needs of tomorrow for the communities we service.

Please join me in congratulating the 2016 LDA Award recipient, my friend,

Mrs. Debbie Podolski

An outstanding librarian and library leader.

NCLA MEMBERSHIP UPDATE

With Conference now behind us, NCLA's summer season begins in earnest and 850 individuals and organizations are poised to take full advantage of our programs as members of the Association. Second notices were sent out in April and more than 1/3 resulted in membership renewals! Our practice of offering "friendly" reminders to rejoin NCLA will continue as we go through the membership year.

Library school graduations have either taken place or will occur within the next few weeks. If you know a recent graduate, and s/he is not an NCLA member, now may be a good time to present that individual with a membership in the Association. The student rate of $10 may still be applied as the newly-minted MLS holder begins a career in librarianship.

We hope that an "X" doesn't appear on your mailing label, however, you can easily remove it from future mailings by using the membership renewal form that is on the Newsletter.

DIRECTORY

Data input for the 2016 edition of the Directory of LI Libraries and Media Centers is almost complete. We are now contemplating a publication date in early July.

In conversations with members of our community, we have learned that not everyone is familiar with all the sections of the Directory. Please note that in service to NCLA, and to our sister organization in Suffolk County, we include the latest edition of their Constitution and Bylaws. Directions to the public libraries of both counties have undergone major changes this year. We are especially pleased to offer the "Services" index which has been used to answer questions and put our colleagues in contact with others in the field when they are contemplating new services.

Please let us know of any corrections that we need to make in our files. Note that the Directory is only as good as the data that are provided!

Please also remember that in order to receive a "free" copy of this important publication, you must have been a member of NCLA in 2015. In addition, you need to have paid dues of $25.00 or more.

Additional copies of the Directory may be available for purchase as well.

NCLA Outreach Committee Program

Recently, Nassau and Suffolk county librarians met at the Patchogue-Medford Public Library to collaborate on a special project for Noticia, a Spanish-language Long Island newspaper to create content for their readers. The paper has graciously agreed to dedicate one full page to articles about the library on a monthly basis.

Contributors are asked to submit book reviews, and to highlight programs and events that will be of interest to our Spanish-speaking patrons. Articles will be published in Spanish, but can be submitted in English or Spanish. The articles will be featured on the last Friday of every month. The deadline for submissions is the third Monday of every month. This allows time for the articles to be edited before they are sent to the newspaper.

This is a wonderful opportunity to promote library programs that target the Spanish speaking population and that do NOT have residency restrictions. If you would like to submit content and/or you have questions, feel free to contact me via email at mrobinson@freeportlibrary.info. Suffolk County librarians should contact Gilda Ramos (gramos@pmlib.org) and/or Amber Sroka-Gagliardi (gagliardiamber@mcplibrary.org).
